2018 MEDIA KIT

NZME.
EDUCATIONAL MEDIA

NZME Educational Media is all about niche audiences: New Zealand audiences who want a sector-specific perspective on what's going on locally, as well as globally, with a window to what's coming next. NZME Educational Media is New Zealand's leading education and health multi-platform publisher, producing more than 53 publications annually. Every year we write and sub more than one million words across 2,600 pages, maintain and update six industry websites, manage more than 100,000 active subscribers, and create and send more than 150 EDMs.

We are passionate about publishing, and have proven competencies in print management, commercial content, website development and management and project management. We work with a variety of education, health and government organisations to produce magazines, websites, prospectuses, annual reports, strategic plans, newsletters and various promotional items.

EducationCentral.co.nz is the independent and impartial go-to news source for New Zealand educators, politicians, policy makers and parents

- The latest news
- Thought-provoking feature content
- Opinion pieces from sector thought leaders
- Teaching and learning resources
- Professional development initiatives and sector success stories
- Policy updates
- Conference information
- Forum for discussion and debate

EducationCentral.co.nz harnesses the collective depth and breadth of NZME's education content from market-leading and award-winning websites and publications, such as the NZHerald.co.nz, Education Review, Education Focus and Newstalkzb.co.nz.

In addition, EducationCentral.co.nz provides unique opinion pieces from some of New Zealand's most high-profile thought leaders, including educational researchers and commentators, policy makers, charter schools advocates and opponents, authors of NZ Initiative reports, teacher education experts, sector leaders and influencers from unions, principals' associations, ECE and tertiary peak body organisations.

NZME. Educational Media is passionate about New Zealand's education sector and engaging Kiwi educators in a new and innovative way.
